2011 has just started and we already have a couple of exciting news: we are humbled and thrilled to announce our participation in some awesome conferences throughout Europe!

1

- In January I will be speaking in the OOP 2011 Conference in Munich², which spans from Monday 24th to Friday 28th! This is the 20th edition of one of the most important software conferences in Europe, featuring this year speakers like Martin Fowler, Erich Gamma, Tom DeMarco, Scott Berkun and Kevin Henney! My session is called “Introduction to iOS Software Development”³ and will take place on Thursday, January 27th, at 9am.
- In March, it will be the turn of QCon London 2011⁴, where I will be hosting the mobile track⁵, with the confirmed participation of Graham Lee, talking about mobile app privacy⁶! That will happen on Wednesday, March 9th.
- Finally, in April I will be at the Scandinavian Developer Conference 2011⁷
