Our application Senbei¹ has been updated to version 1.3! Senbei is the iPhone client of the popular Fat Free CRM² application by Michael Dvorkin³, written in Ruby on Rails⁴.

In this version we have updated the code for compatibility with iOS 4.0 and later, and also with graphics that take advantage of the latest Retina displays. We have also solved a number of small but annoying bugs that were scattered throughout the application.

Get Senbei from the App Store⁶ or check out the source code in Github!⁷ Senbei features an implementation of the proposed network request architecture⁸ we've talked about in this blog before, so be sure to check that part of the code as well.
